

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0043] Described here are systems and methods for providing data starting from start codes aligned with byte boundaries in multiple byte words. A start code is written starting at a byte in a middle portion of a data word in a memory. An address associated with the byte is written in a table. Data is fetched from the memory starting from the byte.